Flag over City Hall honors Juneteenth

Lives Matter Seacoast; and Maggie Fogarty, Dover School Board liaison to the Racial Equity and Inclusion Committee. Juneteenth celebrates June 19, 1865, when the Union Army delivered the news of President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation to Texas residents that all those enslaved were now free. It came a little over a month after the end of the American Civil War and more than two years after the Emancipation Proclamation was issued. The state of New Hampshire began observing June 19 as Juneteenth after the governor signed the bill into law on June 19, 2019.

City food trailer helping feed thousands

The non-profit organization, Red's Good Vibes, has used the city-owned food trailer it leased to provide more than 3,300 free meals to help address food insecurity since it put the trailer into service on April 30, 2022.

City Manager J. Michael Joyal, Jr., provided the City Council an update on the trailer utilization at a recent meeting. The city purchased the food trailer a couple of years ago with federal grant funds.

The City Council authorized the leasing of the trailer to Red's Good Vibes in December for a year for the non-profit to provide free meals to those experiencing food insecurity in the region. The lease, which is $1 a year, can be renewed for two additional years. Part of the agreement stipulates Red's Good Vibes to provide regular updates to the city about the trailer's use.

In addition to providing meals, Red's Good Vibes also completed maintenance and repairs to the trailer, including updating valves to the gas line, replacing the generator and professionally cleaning it. The trailer also passed fire, health and safety inspections before being used. Red's Good Vibes is also planning to expand its reach by seeking permits to operate in neighboring municipalities. It has also been working with food provider organizations, such as Gather, Manna for the Hungry, Connections through Kindness, and First Church of Rochester, to utilize the trailer to increase awareness of their services.

Joyal noted that Red's Good Vibes, a 501(c)3 tax-exempt charitable organization, accepts donations online at its website <https://redgoodvibes.com>.

The trailer is, Joyal said, "being put to good use as was intended when we [acquired] the trailer with federal grant funds a couple of years ago. "

Red's Good Vibes presented its proposal to the City Council at a Dec. 1, 2021 workshop, which can be viewed here.

Dover mental health challenges and response: A community conversation

Like many communities, Dover is experiencing an increased need for mental health support. Even with community-wide efforts to address the crisis, first responders, emergency departments, social service entities, and schools are overburdened by the number of people in need of mental health services.

Saint Anselm's Center for Ethics in Society will host a community conversation on Thursday, June 23, at 4 p.m. in the Dover High School library, focusing on the reality of the mental health crisis in Dover and the changes necessary for long-term solutions. The event, moderated by Laura Knoy, the former host of The Exchange on New Hampshire Public Radio, will also be held virtually. It's the second of a second in a series of public discussions about the mental health crisis in Dover. While the discussion will focus on Dover, insights shared might be of value to communities facing similar challenges. All are welcome.

To register for either the in-person event or the virtual Zoom event, visit bit.ly/3PXA8X.

The panelists for this session include Kaitlin Jones, Dover Police social worker; Travis Bickford, Dover School District psychologist; Heather Walker-McConihe, recovery coach and intentional peer support specialist with Community Partners; and Michelle Wagner, a community educator and peer services coordinator at the National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI) New Hampshire.

The webinar series is sponsored by the Dover Police Department, Dover Fire and Rescue, Dover School District, Center for Ethics in Society at Saint Anselm College, Dover Mental Health Alliance, Community Partners, Wentworth-Douglass Hospital, and Portsmouth Regional Hospital: Dover Emergency Room.

Garrison Hill to host Amateur Radio Field Day June 25 and 26

Ham radio operators from the Great Bay Radio Association (GBRA) will assemble on the weekend of June 25 and 26 atop Garrison Hill to participate in the annual Amateur Radio Field Day. The event has been held every year since it was organized in 1933 by the National Association for Amateur Radio in the United States (ARRL).

This annual Field Day event takes place simultaneously around the United States and Canada. The event's goal is to improve on how quickly operators can set up a reliable amateur radio (also known as ham radio) station in improvised conditions, using emergency power and temporary set-ups, so they're ready to serve in an emergency. They also strive to make contact with as many other stations worldwide during the 24-hour event.

This year's event is also noteworthy given that a particularly active hurricane season is predicted.

"Hams have a long history of serving our communities when storms or other disasters damage critical communication infrastructure, including cell towers," said Jeffrey Zajicek, (N1XUQ) GBRA president and Emergency Coordinator for the Strafford County Amateur Radio Emergency Service. "Ham radio functions completely independently of the internet and phone systems and a station can be set up almost anywhere in minutes. Hams can quickly raise a wire antenna in a tree or on a mast, connect it to a radio and power source, and communicate effectively with others."

This public service is easily extended during non-emergency civic events, such as parades, marathons, and street festivals where the GBRA members provide radio communications and assist local event coordinators as needed.

The general public is invited to view the site and see amateur radio in operation at Garrison Hill from the start of the event Saturday, June 25, at 2 p.m. until 8 p.m. and on Sunday, June 26 from 8 a.m. until noon.

For more information about amateur radio and the Great Bay Radio Association, visit the information table at the event; email Les Rosenau, GBRA public information officer, at kc1eot@arrl.net; or visit www.w1fz.club.

June 18, 1833 — A public meeting was held for the purpose of making arrangements for the reception of President Jackson, then on a visit to Concord, and who was expected to pass through town on his way to Portland. But the President, in consequence of feeble health, returned direct to Boston and Washington.

June 22, 1863 — Amaziah Goodwin of Lyman, Maine, a Revolutionary War soldier, aged 100 years and 4 months, arrived in Dover on his way to Boston, to be present at the celebration of the 88th anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill. Stopping at a relative's home in Dover to recruit, he was taken sick and died this day.

June 23, 1825 — The long expected visit of the "nation's guest," General Lafayette, was made to Dover at this time. Having come from Concord where he had been received by the Legislature, he was met near the Durham line by the Dover committee of arrangements and a large number of citizens in carriages and on horseback, among whom were about 30 young gentlemen, from 15 to 20 years of age, in uniform dress, and mounted, who added much interest to the scene. The General was introduced to the chief marshal, Hon. D. M. Durell, by Major Walker, marshal of the escort of Durham. To learn more, visit https://youtu.be/_5dADaBRi8Y.

June 17, 1912 — The baccalaureate for Dover High School was held at First Parish Congregational Church on this day. There were 58 seniors in the Class of 1912, 30 of whom were female. At that time, it was the largest class ever to graduate from Dover High School.

June 20, 2003 — Foster's Daily Democrat reported on this day that Dover Marine, located on New Rochester Road in Dover, received an early morning phone call for a special order that needed to be filled immediately. The order was for a 225-horsepower Mercury Optimax, then one of Mercury's biggest motors, at a cost of $16,000. It turned out the motor was needed for then President George W. Bush, who was spending Father's Day weekend with his family, including his father, former President George H. W. Bush, at their compound in Kennebunkport, Maine. One of the outboard motors on the family boat had broken down and Dover Marine was the closest location with a replacement on hand. According to the report, Dover Marine workers removed the motor from another boat and had it ready and open for inspection when a group of people identifying themselves as Secret Service agents arrived. The motor was loaded into a truck and arrived in Kennebunkport by noon the same day.

Granite Fitness donates $2,500 to SEED for physical education equipment

The Seacoast Educational Endowment for Dover (“SEED”), a nonprofit organization dedicated to lifting academic excellence in Dover, New Hampshire public schools, recently accepted a $2,500 donation to promote health and wellness at Dover Middle School (“DMS”).

Granite Fitness & Performance is a best in class training facility located on Locust Street in Dover. As a life-long Dover resident and athlete, Granite Fitness owner Ian Duffy is committed to giving back to his community.

“It is so important to introduce good health and fitness habits to adolescents and teens,” said Duffy. “Staying fit can help improve academic performance, build confidence, and decrease the risk of chronic disease.”

Studies show regular physical activity can help teens learn to meet the physical and emotional challenges they face every day. The donation will help DMS to purchase kettlebells in assorted sizes, cast iron dumbbells, and storage racks. All of this equipment will be used in the DMS physical education program.

In its tenth year, SEED is entirely funded by community giving to provide Dover educators access to tools, training, and curriculum not otherwise available through traditional school budgets. To learn more about SEED, please visit <http://www.DoverSEED.org>.

Military families play for free all summer at Children’s Museum

Armed Forces Day, Saturday, May 21 was the start of the Children’s Museum of New Hampshire’s Military Appreciation Summer, during which all current and retired military personnel and their immediate family members are invited to play at no cost, thanks to a generous sponsorship from Service Credit Union.. From now through Sunday, Sept. 4, 2022, guests can reserve their spots online for free, and then simply show a military ID at the front desk of the museum to receive free admission for the military member, dependent children and spouse.

“We are proud to once again partner with the Children’s Museum to sponsor their Blue Star program,” said Jaime Yates, Service Credit Union Community Relations Manager. ‘At Service Credit Union, we have a longstanding history of supporting our military members, veterans and their families, and this program is one of the ways we can give back to those who have given so much to us.’”

The museum's summer Military Appreciation Program is exclusively sponsored by Service Credit Union and is part of the larger nationwide Blue Star Museum program. The Blue Star Museum program is a collaboration between the National Endowment for the Arts, Blue Star Families, and the Department of Defense. More than 2,000 museums across America offer free admission to the nation's active duty military personnel, including National Guard and Reserve and their families from Armed Forces Day through Labor Day. "Thanks to the generous support from Service Credit Union, the Museum is thrilled to extend free admission to include retired military personnel and their family members" said Jane Bard, Museum President.

The summer free admission program is available to active duty and retired U.S. military - Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, Coast Guard, as well as members of the National Guard and Reserve, U.S. Public Health Service Commissioned Corps, NOAA Commissioned Corps - and up to five family members.

The Children's Museum of New Hampshire extends a fifty-percent-off discount to military personnel and their families during the rest of the year thanks to additional sponsorship support, including from People's United Bank.
